

Bachelor of Arts in Logistics Management and training to become a Specialist for Forwarding and Logistic Services with Lufthansa Cargo AG

Did you always want to know how it is possible to present goods from all over the world to German customers on the very next day? Aside from the economic and theoretical background, are you also interested in the practical side?

Would you like to personally ensure the punctual transportation of animals, Formula 1 racing cars, and dangerous goods as well as their availability at the right location, and at the same time offer our customers tailor-made logistic services?

While you acquire the theoretical background at the European University of Applied Sciences (EUFH) in Brühl, Germany, you will also gain insight into the operative and commercial routine of Lufthansa Cargo AG in Frankfurt. You will gather international experience during your studies and a practical internship abroad, and thus be prepared for the cosmopolitan scope of logistics activities. At the end of your three-year qualification you will have evolved into a practically-oriented logistician capable of bringing yourself into position within a world class corporation.

Facts

- Within 3 years you will complete your studies at the European University of Applied Sciences (EUFH) in Brühl, Germany. You will acquire the academic title of Bachelor of Arts (B. A.) in Logistics Management.
- Your studies take place over 6 semesters of 13 weeks each. You will spend your 6th semester abroad and write your bachelor thesis with Lufthansa Cargo AG.
- Your studies will focus on all areas of logistics management.
- Parallel to your studies, you will complete a 2 ½-year commercial training with Lufthansa Cargo AG and pass your final exam with the Frankfurt IHK (chamber of commerce) to become a Businessperson for Forwarding and Logistic Services.
- During internal seminars you will receive additional specialized air freight knowledge. In your practical internships and in direct customer contact, you will get to know our operative work in the handling and sales departments.
- Aside from these operative areas, you will also gain practical experience in finance and accounting, marketing, and controlling.
