

Bachelor / Master thesis with the Lufthansa Group

Lufthansa offers Bachelor and Master theses in many different subjects and business areas.

We will support your education with the practical experience of an international company, providing you with background knowledge and placing competent tutors at your side as contact persons. You will discuss with your tutor to decide just how closely you would like to work with Lufthansa on your project.

Completing a Bachelor or Master thesis at Lufthansa is particularly suited for students focusing on informatics, economics, engineering, mathematics, and other related subjects. Program details and specific requirements can be found in the individual job ads.

General requirements

- Outstanding academic performance
- Practical experience
- Social and intercultural competence
- Proven commitment outside of studies

Please apply online at www.Be-Lufthansa.com

Under “Jobs” – “Bachelor / Master thesis” you will find current job ads for Bachelor / Master theses when they become available. The majority of Bachelor / Master theses are awarded after the successful completion of an internship with Lufthansa.

For the online application you will need information from your CV and your studies, such as data pertaining to your intermediate degree, midterm exams, or previously completed degrees.